Dear Friends,

Did you know that the US Dollar stopped being money after 1971? It became a form of currency. This tragic reality has made savers into losers, because the value of your money keeps going down. But prices go up which is called inflation.

According to a the world-renowned economist, John Williams of Shadowstats "Nothing is normal: not the economy, not the financial system, not the financial markets and not the political system. The financial system still remains in the throes and aftershocks of the 2008 panic and near-systemic collapse, and from the ongoing responses to same by the Federal Reserve and federal government. Further panic is possible and hyperinflation remains inevitable."

Am I trying to scare you? Yes, I am. I am trying to tell you to save yourself and your family.

Consider these facts:

- According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 49 percent of all Americans live in a home that currently gets direct monetary benefits from the federal government.
- A study found that forty percent of individuals in the U.S. said they could not come up with $2,000 if an unexpected need arose.
- It is estimated that less than 10 percent of the entire U.S. population owns any gold or silver for investment purposes.

The truth is that most of the country is not prepared at all for when, not if, the financial collapse occurs. There is a simple yet powerful solution to insure that your hard earned money will not be totally obliterated.

Gold is a metal that has been used as money all over the world for 6,000 years. Not only it is durable but it's supply is limited, removing any worries about inflation. No one can decide to print or create gold. People have to work, to mine, to obtain gold.

There has been an attempt to view gold not as money, but rather as a commodity like corn that one would invest in. This may be a correct but incomplete perspective.

Consider the advantages of owning gold:

- You can protect your savings against the currency devaluation.
- You can protect your purchasing power as inflation is steadily rising.
- You can protect yourself should a severe banking crisis occur; should one of the big banks collapse. And they will.
- You can protect yourself if an economic crisis results in deflation. You would be relatively better off with gold than being in paper money or paper assets.

- Gold is a form of currency, accepted in 194 countries around the world.
- Gold offers protection against inflation and currency reforms.
- Gold bars are global cash.
- Gold in crisis times, is a stable investment.

You've been hearing the same story again and again

It's always the same thing. The rich guy is always the one who gets the best deals, right?

Doesn't it make you mad? It's the guy who has money who can buy those gold bars. They can purchase those gold bullions(coins) at an exorbitant price. The current market price is around $1200 an ounce plus the usual high broker premium.

Who can afford that except those rich, too big to fail guys? After you pay your mortgage, your taxes, utilities, insurances, food, medical expenses, what's left? Can you afford to buy gold coins at $1,272 all the time? Most people cannot.

But there is a way!
